My Life Values

Web-enabled EAP/WorkLife Services Helping Your Employees Make Important Life Decisions

Organizations recognize that many working people are faced with the challenge of balancing their work and family life. And, they need answers fast!

My Life Values is a practical, web-enabled work-life resource developed after meticulous research into the issues that are most important to working people and their families. My Life Values offers employees easy, online access to a proprietary database of over one million work-life providers, useful and compelling research and information, robust concierge resources, online mortgage assistance, as well as shopping rewards and discounts at a network of national vendors.

Using My Life Values, employees can gather information and make important decisions about family, health, leisure time, and how to get "the most for their money" – all through one web tool that they can use at their pace and when their schedule permits.
