

Beth McNulty
Adjunct Instructor, Psychology

“Reading for me is the great escape. I look for the author to capture my interest in the first chapter, allowing me to essentially live vicariously via the words on the page. Fiction or non-fiction - makes no difference!”

Ms. McNulty has been teaching at LSCC since 1995. A year ago, she moved to Canton, Texas and has continued to teach Psychology online.

Beth McNulty’s
Favorite Books

- The Outliers by Malcolm Gladwell
- Great Expectations by Charles Dickens
- The Secret Life of Bees by Sue Monk Kidd
- The Wizard of Oz by L. Frank Baum
- Einstein. His Life and Universe
by Walter Isaacson
- The Life of Pi by Yann Martel
- Watchers by Dean Koontz
- Social Intelligence: The New Science of Human Relationships by Daniel Goleman
- Fluke by Christopher Moore